The Evening Star, November 5, 1879
A Policeman Terribly Beaten
Assailed By Negro Roughts
One of the most outrageous cases of beating a policeman occurred on Sunday morning last, which, for the purposes of furthering the ends of justice, was kept quiet, but as there is very little probability that the guilty parties will be punished, further secrecy is unnecessary. About 1 o'clock Sunday morning Officer Thomas A. Clements, of the eighth precinct, one of our oldest and best policemen, whose beat is on Capitol Hill, hearing a party of disorderly persons in the neighborhood of St. Peter's Church, hurried
