

---

Name	Birth/Death	Age	Range/Site
------	-------------	-----	------------

---

Cleveland, Edward d. 7 Mar 1874 R149/255

The Evening Star, March 9, 1874

Death of a Veteran

On Saturday evening an old seaman, named Edward Cleveland, well known in the eastern section of the city, died at the Soldiers' Home. He was a native of Stratford, Conn. and was about 70 years of age. He spent about 50 years of his life in the Navy.

Master-At-Arms, U.S. Navy (CT)

Cleveland, John d. 12 Dec 1912 R122/205

Cleveland. Suddenly on Thursday, December 12, 1912 at Odenton, Md., John Cleveland, husband of Annie L. Cleveland (nee Pierce). Funeral from his late residence, 512 D street n.e., Sunday, December 15 at 2:30 p.m. Relatives and friends invited. (Baltimore, Md. and Alexandria, Va. papers please copy).

The Evening Star, December 14, 1912, p. 5

Engine Killed By Train

John Cleveland Struck by Locomotive at Odenton

John Cleveland of this city, one of the oldest engineers in the employ of the Baltimore division of the Pennsylvania railroad, was instantly killed at Odenton, Md., Thursday afternoon.

Cleveland was running from Baltimore to Washington. There was something wrong with the engine and he got out to see what it was. As he walked around the locomotive he was struck by the engine of a northbound train. He was dead when picked up.

Magistrate Byron Phelps was called and he summoned a jury of inquest.

After the jury viewed the body the magistrate gave permission to remove it to Cleveland's late home in Washington.

Mr. Cleveland's body was brought to Washington that night, and the funeral will be held from the residence, 512 D street northeast, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.