Pullin, William	d. 16 May 1886	49 yrs.	R85/234
Pullin. On the morning of May 16th, 1886, at 2 o'clock a.m., William Pullin, beloved son of Joseph and Mary Pullin, in the 50th year of his age. We were weeping at his pillow For we knew that he must die, And our house is sad and lonely Since Father in the grave must lie. Dear father how you gaze on us And struggle for your breath, We never knew, our darling father, How terrible was your death. We thought him dying when he slept, And sleeping when he died, For when the morn came dim and said And chilled with early showers,
